Protection of environment and atmosphere has become a Global challenge now as the quantum of pollution spikes along with the modernization. Under the scenario of irresistible advancement in Science and Technology, keeping the pollution under check takes backseat. It is the need of the hour that Higher Educational institutions on their part to realize their utmost responsibility to create awareness among the students and Educators on environment protection. It is the high time that students are to be educated in this field since they are the powerful media to spread the message to the public. The PG & Research Department of Chemistry Islamiah College, Vaniyambadi" finds this period more appropriate to organize a workshop when the World Water day is being commemorated on 22nd March.

Many of the educational institutions normally send the effluent from laboratories into the soil as the result of which the soil gets polluted. The neighbouring agricultural fields are also affected. Keeping this in mind, Our Islamiah College fabricated 'Lab discharge treatment plant' where the discharge from Chemistry, Biochemistry and Biotechnology laboratories are collected and sent for treatment. After properly applying the reclamation methods, the lab discharge turned into clean water where fish culture is done.

With the motive of imparting the theoretical knowledge and to provide Hands on experience, the PG & Research Department of Chemistry, organized one-day workshop on "Treatment and Reclamation Methods of Lab Discharge" on Saturday, 20.03.2021. The students, scholars and staff members of our college and from neighboring colleges participated.

In the inaugural session, Dr. S. Raja Mohamed Kamil, HoD of Chemistry welcomed the gathering. Dr. T. Mohamed Ilyas, Principal delivered the presidential address. Dr. A. Liyakath Ali, the HOD of Biochemistry offered felicitation.
